Synthetic refusal control R04

This one-page synthetic control document carries an /OpenAction JavaScript action and a page /AA additional action. The strings are inert in a viewer that blocks scripts, and they are synthetic; a conforming pipeline must refuse the input because it contains active content.

This page is the visible carrier for a synthetic control. It contains no real data and no executable behaviour beyond what the control is designed to exhibit.